WESTERN AUSTRALIA'S MENTAL HEALTH
STRATEGY 2004-2007

MENTAL HEALTH STRATEGY 2004-2007

Foreword from the Minister for Health

Implementing the initiatives outlined in the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 represent major reform for Western Australia's mental health services.

Our State's mental health system has been under significant pressure for many years, and improving mental health services for patients and staff is now a top priority for this Government.

The State Government has allocated $173.4 million in additional funding over the next three years to enable the implementation of the comprehensive mental health reform initiatives identified in the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007.

Next year total annual funding from the State Government for mental health will be more that $300 million, or 9 per cent of the total health budget, making Western Australia the first state to achieve this level of funding.

OUR MISSION

To be a national leader of integrated high quality mental health programs for the State that are developed in partnership, to effectively and efficiently:

- Promote mental health and well being and reduce the incidence of mental disorders;
  - Ensure safe, reliable and timely mental health services; and
    - Enable optimum recovery and minimise the impact of disability and disadvantage.

The outcome will be a mental health program that is valued by the people of Western Australia.

It will also mean that total spending on mental health will increase by 50 per cent from the $208 million annual expenditure when the Gallop Government came to office in 2001.

This strong commitment to funding a range of new initiatives and the expansion of existing mental health services will have significant benefits for many individuals, carers and families in Western Australia who need support.

The Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 outlines the key reforms which will address the most pressing areas of need within our current mental health system. The aim is to meet demand for services, improve access to appropriate inpatient services, increase intermediate care options, provide more community support services and improve safety for our patients and staff. These key strategies form part of the first phase of the innovative longer term plans for public health system reform outlined in the Health Reform Committee's final report.

The Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 is the culmination of an extensive consultation process and reflects the significant consideration the mental health sector has given to developing better services for mental health consumers.

Dr Neale Fong, Executive Chairman of the Health Reform Implementation Taskforce, will lead the major implementation process of the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007, in partnership with the Mental Health Division.

The implementation of the mental health reform and the provision of significant funding for initiatives in the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 provide a comprehensive approach by this Government to better meet community need for mental health services in Western Australia.

Background Information

The mental health reform initiatives outlined in the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 aim to increase the capacity of mental health services to meet the increase in demand.

The focus will be on relieving pressures in the mental health system, especially where this impacts on other parts of the health system such as Emergency Departments, increasing access to appropriate inpatient services and addressing the lack of intermediate care treatment options and community support services.

During the past few years a number of reports have been generated to plan for the delivery of mental health care in Western Australia. These include:

- A Healthy Future for Western Australia Report of the Health Reform Committee; and
- Enhancing the Capacity of Mental Health Services.

Specifically, the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 addresses five main areas in the health system where targeted interventions have the capacity to immediately and significantly increase access to mental health services and reduce demand on acute hospital beds. The five strategy areas are:

- Mental health emergency services
- Adult inpatient services
- Community mental health services (Adult & Young people)
- Supported community accommodation
- Workforce, standards and safety initiatives

These strategies are aligned with the innovative and longer-term plans outlined in the Health Reform Committee's final report, which is being rolled out by the Health Reform Implementation Taskforce.

The development of these individual strategies is the culmination of a significant amount of consultation involving consumers, carers, mental health professionals, government and non-government mental health bodies and peak industry organisations.

To assist with the implementation of major reforms to mental health services in Western Australia, a Mental Health Advisory Group has been established.

The Advisory Group of mental health specialists will oversee implementation of the Mental Health Strategy 2004-2007 and play an integral role in the development and monitoring of activities.

The Advisory Group will also be involved in engaging consumers, carers, community bodies and other stakeholders in the provision of advice and feedback and assist with communicating information out to the community.
