In June 2017, the Government of Western Australia announced the Sustainable Health Review (SHR) to prioritise the delivery of patient-centred, high quality and financially sustainable healthcare across the State.

The Interim Report has been informed by significant consultation with consumers and carers, the WA community, staff in the WA health system, non-government organisations and other partners.

The purpose of the Interim Report is to reflect key themes from consultations to date and to present a range of Preliminary Directions in preparation of the Final Report.

The Panel's lens to sustainability through a four-pillar approach

Preliminary Directions

- Direction 1 Keep people healthy and get serious about prevention and health promotion
- Direction 2 Focus on person-centred services
- Direction 3 Better use of resources with more care in the community
- Direction 4 Facilitate effective interaction between acute and community-based mental health services to deliver mental health reforms across the WA health system
- Direction 5 New ways to support equity in country health
- Direction 6 Develop partnerships for Aboriginal health outcomes
- Direction 7 Create and support the right culture
- Direction 8 Greater use of technology, data and innovation to support consumers, clinicians and drive change
- Direction 9 Harness and support health and medical research collaboration and innovation
- Direction 10 Develop a supported and flexible workforce
- Direction 11 Plan and invest more wisely to deliver future-focused infrastructure and services
- Direction 12 Building financial sustainability, strong governance, systems and support services

Across these Preliminary Directions there are nine recommendations for immediate action, and a range of areas for further work.
